Fiery Political Documentary Makes Theatrical Debut

HOWELL -- How to Kill 14 People without Saying a Word (www.howtokill14people.com) is a controversial political documentary from award winning filmmaker Nick Stumphauzer. The film will premiere October 27th, 2018. The red carpet event hosted by WAAM Talk 1600s own Thayrone X will take place at 1pm at the Historic Howell Theater.

This is an explosive film within the currently polarized political climate - Freedom of Speech, university protests and riots, terrorism, communism, fascism, and nazism are held up to the light. The interviewees include Cenk Uygur, the CEO of the Young Turks Network, Dr. Philip Zimbardo, the architect of the Stanford Prison Experiment, Cassie Jaye, the director of the politically charged Men's Rights Activism documentary The Red Pill, Sabo, the Los Angeles renegade street artist, and Gavin McInnes, the controversial conservative pundit.

"This could easily compete with [Dinesh] D'Souza." says Gregg Bennett, Hollywood screenwriter. "This film is absolutely amazing! You've hit the nail right on the head. This will be an award-winning, news-generating, shit-stirring film that will bring out all the people who have had enough of this shit." says John Galletta, CEO Brothers & Arms USA.

The film deconstructs the pervasive ideology that both permitted the murder of 14 innocent people by Islamic terrorists in San Bernardino, CA in 2015, and gave rise to the unrest and riots on university campuses and major cities across America.

Nick Stumphauzer, an independent and award winning short-film maker from Brighton, MI, is releasing his first feature length movie to the public this October. Tickets to the event are available at www.howtokill14people.com.

The film is written, produced and directed by Michigan based filmmaker, Nick Stumphauzer, and scored by the eminently talented Lighting Nights.
